

FIRST WHISTLE / CAMPAIGN 02

Last Bell to Tipoff

THE REAL COACH CARTER
WINNERS DO ONE THING. WE WIN.

ACADEMY

The game-day uniform starts with a soft maroon or charcoal sport coat, a bone Oxford and relaxed charcoal slacks. Square-end knit ties and low-profile court shoes bring it back to the team.

01 / LAST BELL

The school uniform

A bone rib-knit polo under a maroon long vest. Hardwood double-pleat trousers have room through the thigh. The second look puts washed maroon canvas and a cord collar over ink trousers.

Prototype the vest at low hip. The longline image is a styling exploration. Let each student choose one personal accent.

02 / THE INSIDE STORY

The Contract lining

A court diagram meets notebook ruling in antique gold over maroon. A square-end knit tie picks up the gold. The repeat is original editable artwork, with a place for a signature motif.

Print a 150 mm repeat on a cupro or matte satin swatch. Use a two-second jacket opening as the episode-to-lookbook transition.

03 / FIVE MINUTES OUT

The team bench

Maroon snap jackets, ink tearaway trousers and bone sneakers read as a team. One flash of citron gives the lineup some individuality. Frame low enough to see how the pants sit over the shoes.

Use this for mood and seated fit. Use the next page to set the direction and width of the jacket panel.

04 / FIRST BOUNCE

The Arc warmup

The bone court arc starts on the wearer’s right shoulder and sweeps to the left hip. An ink inset sits below it. Wide side-snap pants carry a narrow bone stripe and room to move.

Use this frame as the panel reference. Keep the sweep aligned across the placket. Test lunges, dribbling, squat depth and removal over sneakers.

05 / LOCKER ROOM

The basketball tee and shorts

A heavyweight bone tee with a large basketball graphic under the open jacket. Ink mesh shorts have a maroon gusset and bone piping that curves into the front leg.

Prototype a structured 240–255 GSM cotton tee and double-layer mesh shorts. Put the Academy wordmark at the left hem or inside back neck.

From the frame to the garment

Ink · #0B0806 | Maroon · #5E1A2C | Antique gold · #D3B264 | Hardwood · #B19D7F | Bone · #EFE6D6 | Shot Clock · #D3EC38

SAMPLE IN THIS ORDER

First Whistle blazer and Contract lining. Arc jacket and tearaway pants. Basketball tee and Arc mesh shorts. Then the school vest, polo and chore jacket. Cut the game-day slacks with a clean break at the shoe.

BUILD THE SIGNATURE DETAILS

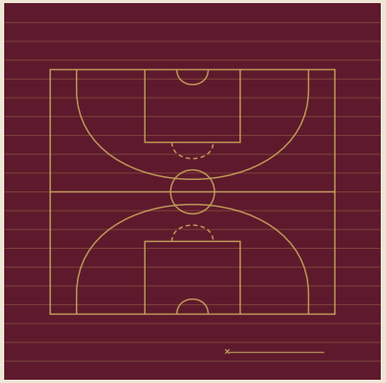

Westbrook's schoolwear and workwear references inform the washed canvas, wide pleats and layered knits. LaMelo's footwear and court styling inform the oversized proportions, asymmetric sweep and controlled citron accent. Keep citron to a sock bar, snap tape or pull.

CAST A TEAM

Cast five real basketball players with varied builds and heights. Have them walk together, wait on a bench and run a familiar drill. Shoot hallway light, dusk outside and actual gym lights. Keep skin texture and fabric wrinkles. Fit-check glasses during movement.

SHOOT FOR THE STORE

Use full-length front, three-quarter and back views, one seated frame, one movement frame and a clean lining macro. Log which sample and size every player wears. Save uncropped masters and phone-friendly crops.

CONTRACT GRID / 150 MM CONCEPT REPEAT

Use the editable tile on the jacket lining or the back of the tie. Swatch it for contrast and scale. Keep the Academy's full approved wordmark on labels and trims.

EPISODE TO PRODUCT

Show the lining in a short preview. Give the look a product link, then use the arrival image for the tailoring page and the bench image for the warmup collection. Replace concept images with photographs of the physical samples before taking orders.

Reference study · Honor The Gift · PUMA MB.04 · PUMA LaFrancé · Claude's Desktop wardrobe brief. The illustrated models are fictional.